FIRE CRACKERS ARE UNPOPULAR WITH CITY DADS

Shooters of roman candles and exploders of fire crackers are going to find themselves in the middle of a bad fix in the Twin Cities this Christmas, it was indicated today when it became known how unpopular "fireworks" are with the city dads.

Police in Decatur will be particularly watchful for violators of the fireworks ordinance in the fire limits, Mayor Nelson stated, while Mayor Payne issued a proclamation warning citizens against the use of fireworks within the city limits of Albany. Fire limits in Decatur extend from the river on Bank street to Lee and a block in each direction.

$150,000 "FIND" NOT SUCH GOOD LUCK AFTER ALL

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—Some folks might consider themselves lucky to find $150,000 in bonds for which no owner has been discovered. Carl Jagger of Gary, Ind., whose wife picked up $150,000 worth of treasury certificates in a Chicago taxicab last May, is beginning to think it is bad luck. Federal authorities declare the bonds became income when they matured September 14, hence Carl may have to pay an income tax. Carl didn't earn the bonds, his wife found them. Inheritance tax due the government is $51,000. Lawyers have discovered that Carl's wife had no legal right to remove property from a common carrier. They threatened a writ of replevin to restore the bonds to the taxicab company.

The sixth arrest in the case was made by the officials late yesterday when Ray Loggins was taken into custody. All of the defendants are held in the county jail at Athens, pending their preliminary trial, which has been set for December 30 before J. E. Clem, judge of the inferior court.

The killing of King came as a great shock to the community and the officers are bending every energy toward solving the mystery. Mr. King was sitting in his home with his wife and seven children when killed. He had just arisen from a chair, preparatory to retiring, when a fusilade of shots sounded and he fell, dying in a short time.

SIXTH ARREST MADE BY SHERIFF'S FORCE

Preliminary Hearings Are Set Before Judge Clem on December 30

A special term of the Limestone county grand jury has been called for January 4 by Judge Robert C. Brickell to investigate the shooting to death of John King, highly respected mechanic, at his home at Stewart's Cross Roads Friday night. The Daily was informed today over long distance telephone from the Limestone sheriff's office.

The sixth arrest in the case was made by the officials late yesterday when Ray Loggins was taken into custody. All of the defendants are held in the county jail at Athens, pending their preliminary trial, which has been set for December 30 before J. E. Clem, judge of the inferior court.

Mr. King was sitting in his home with his wife and seven children when killed. He had just arisen from a chair, preparatory to retiring, when a fusilade of shots sounded and he fell, dying in a short time.

Plastering Falls, Two Are Injured

If they get the writ, Carl says he will be $50,000 shy because five of the bonds, worth $10,000 each, have passed from his possession. The net result is that if all these things happen, Carl may find himself $101,000 or more in debt.

CONTESTANTS GIVEN ANOTHER OPPORTUNITY THIS WEEK

Extra Offer Lasts Just One Week and is a Boon to the Energetic Contestants. 50,000 Extra or Additional Credits for Each $18.00 in Subscriptions. New Contestants May Enter and Compete Successfully.

Another great opportunity to secure Extra Credits is given the contestants in the big Automobile Campaign, and is as follows:

Beginning today, December 21, and lasting until next Monday night, December 27, an extra credit offer similar to the one that closed last Saturday night will be made; 50,000 Extra Credits will be given upon each and every $18 worth of subscriptions turned in between these dates. This splendid opportunity is made to encourage the contestants to put forth their very best efforts now. There will be a decided decrease in the number of credits given for subscriptions after this time, therefore the "wise" contestants will put forth their very best efforts during this time.

Opportunities are "sign posts" on the road to success. The extra offer this week is an opportunity to further increase the vote totals and will be hailed with delight by the enthusiastic contestants. The interest being displayed on all sides is gratifying indeed and it proves that the people of Albany and Decatur and this section of Alabama are wide awake to an opportunity.

Extra Credits

The Extra Credits are given in addition to the number of credits allowed on each subscription according to the regular schedule. It goes without saying that the contestants who do their best work now while there is such a great premium placed upon one's efforts will have the first call upon the big prizes when the race ends. Four full weeks still remain in which to get subscriptions to apply on the big prizes and those folks who aspire to winning the big automobiles should double their energies and put forth a herculean effort now.

Courage and Success

These go hand in hand. Many a person has all the requirements necessary to succeed in life, but lacks courage. In this battle of votes the main requisites to success are determination and courage. The winning contestants will be those who make up their minds now to beat all past records in securing subscriptions, and who do not become faint-hearted with the prize within their reach. Credits are the necessary medium and credits must be secured in order to claim the prizes. Thousands of them can be secured between now and the closing of this period.

Rich Prizes

The prizes offered in this campaign are too valuable to let go by default. There are too many ambitious folks in the race to allow the best prizes to be carried away for little effort. The race will be a hotly contested one, and the value of the prizes warrant the keenest competition. Contestants who are expecting to win one of the automobiles, or any one of the other prizes are aware of the fact that it will take some hustling to do it, and contestants who put in the hardest licks will doubtless be the most successful.

An Even Race

One very noticeable feature of the campaign lies in the fact that the race thus far is an even one. It seems as though the contestants have shown the same amount of ability in taking subscriptions. In other words, it is anybody's race thus far. The results secured during this special ballot offer ending next Monday night (one week) will doubtless have a deciding effect. Go to it, contestants, this week, ham-

RETURN TO NORMAL CONDITIONS IN THE BUSINESS WORLD IN 30 DAYS PREDICTED

U. S. Chamber of Commerce is Optimistic Over the Future Outlook

PRICE FARM PRODUCTS EXPECTED TO GO UP

Big Harvests in All Sections
Soon Will Find Heavy Demand

That the bottom of the present business depression will be reached within thirty days, and then business will start back to a satisfactory stage, is pointed out in a letter received by the Albany Chamber of Commerce from the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. The letter is considered as bearing much weight by C. P. McDaniel, secretary-manager of the Albany Chamber of Commerce, in view of the fact that the Chamber of Commerce of the United States has always kept a very accurate tabulation of the business condition throughout the country. The letter to the local organization follows:

"The bottom of the present depression will be reached in the next thirty days, in the opinion of Archer Wall Douglas, chairman of the committee on statistics and standards of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in his monthly report on general business conditions, made public in the Nation's Business.

"Advances of any moment in the agricultural products will materially change the situation for the better, and reductions in the prices of commodities are likely to cause increased business in all industrial sections, says Mr. Douglas.

"The report points out that acute phases of the present depression will wear away steadily as the public adjusts itself to changed conditions brought about by a return to normal. Unfavorable agricultural situations, especially, have an unexpected way of remedying themselves.

"From the unfounded fears of last spring of bread lines in the cities and shortage of food everywhere, we are awakened to the startling realization of a harvest so great that we cannot at once find an adequate market for our surplus products. So there ensues that inexorable law of supply and demand which decrees that over-production is always accompanied by falling prices. This phase of the situation is peculiarly accentuated in the Southern states, where the second largest crop of cotton grown is met by a much reduced demand both at home and abroad. Moreover, much of the cotton is a low middling because of the boll weevil and much unfavorable weather and for such grades there is now practically no market at any price.

"Restricting Acreage

"In the South there is developing a strong sentiment towards largely restricting the acreage of cotton this coming spring. This plan is always brought forth in the days of very low cotton prices, but has never been carried out in anything like the measure proposed by its advocates. In many ways a cotton production restricted to somewhere near the probable demand would be a wise proceeding if it were possible to forecast what the demand would be.

"While the situation in the grain growing states is not unlike that in the cotton belt, yet business in the former has not been affected to the same degree as in the latter. There is apparently a better proportionate market for wheat and live stock, the two cash productions of the grain states, than for cotton, the great crop of the South. In all sections the farmers are holding their crops for higher prices and are not selling unless forced to do so by pressure from bankers and merchants to whom they are indebted. Consequently they have disposed of but a comparatively small portion of their crops, and are not in position to discharge their indebtedness or to buy anything save their immediate wants.

"Meanwhile the bankers are well loaned up and are chary about extending any further credits to either mer-

STEAMER TROXELL AGAIN IS PLACED IN CUSTODY OF THE MORGAN COUNTY OFFICIALS

Boat Formally Taken Over and Guard Put Aboard on Writ Issued Last July by Judge Robert Brickell

The steamer Luther J. Troxell added another chapter to the record of her exploits late yesterday when Sheriff May, through Deputy Hamilton, formally took possession of the steamer on a writ issued last July by Judge Robert C. Brickell of the Circuit Court following a raid on the boat which netted a small quantity of liquor and some near beer.

The sheriff seized the boat a short time after the raid, but down two days later found the Troxell missing from her moorings at the Bank street wharf. Despite the reported watch maintained to prevent the steamer from leaving Alabama waters, she steamed up the Tennessee river and was moored to a wharf near Chattanooga for several weeks.

The bottom of the present depression will be reached in the next thirty days, in the opinion of Archer Wall Douglas, chairman of the committee on statistics and standards of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in his monthly report on general business conditions, made public in the Nation's Business.

"While Congress and the new President begin their work in March they will find that the public debt needs straightening out," he said. "Portions of it must be refunded so that the whole mass of outstanding securities can be simplified. When that is done, Liberty bonds and Victory bonds should go to par, where they would be today but for existing confusion.

"While taxation cannot wisely be reduced in amount, the unjust and inequitable taxes must be revised. War taxes are not good peace time taxes. The excess profits tax is especially obnoxious and very injurious to the restoration of sound business and to increased production. The excessively high surtaxes must come off, as they discourage capital. Every association of business men, with singular unanimity, agree that the taxes of the federal government need a board of experts to administer them.

"While the federal reserve system has demonstrated its ability to ward off panic during the recent fall in prices, there is every indication of the rise of a cheap money party. The clamor for cheap and abundant credit is loud. We need once more to sound the slogan: 'There is no sound money that is not gold.'

"From the unfounded fears of last spring of bread lines in the cities and shortage of food everywhere, we are awakened to the startling realization of a harvest so great that we cannot at once find an adequate market for our surplus products. ### AUTOMOBILE PATROLS SEARCHING FOR CROOKS

Curfew Law Goes Into Effect in Metropolis to End the Lawlessness.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—A murder mystery involving a beautiful woman was added to New York's crime wave today. A woman about 30 years of age and dressed in deep mourning was found on a lonely stretch of sand at Long Beach. She had been shot thru the right eye. The police believe she was murdered elsewhere and her body carried to the beach. The woman had the appearance of wealth, refinement and education.

Police Commissioner Enright's curfew order went into effect last night. A number of belated pedestrians were stopped and searched by policemen in unlighted streets after midnight. The police department is adopting other measures in addition to the curfew established in many parts of town.

Later in the day the police believed they had identified the body of the woman as that of Mrs. John A. Lee, widow of a prominent physician of Brooklyn.

BOLD ROBBERY

TOLEDO, O., Dec. 21.—One of the boldest robberies in the history of Toledo was committed late yesterday afternoon when five bandits held up employees of the American Express Company and made good their escape with a small safe containing $16,000. Another safe containing $55,000 had been removed from the office an hour earlier and it is believed the bandits were after this safe.

As the employees were about to load the safe onto a truck in the rear of the building, they were met by five men with shotguns who ordered them back into the building and drove off with the safe.

LARGE PAYROLL DUE NEXT MONTH

LOCAL BANKS WILL DECLARE
REGULAR DIVIDENDS WITH-IN NEXT FEW WEEKS

Another large payroll, in addition to the regular payrolls in the Twin Cities, is due early in January. Local banking institutions were preparing today for the meetings of directors at which the annual dividends will be declared.

The Tennessee Valley Bank will hold its meeting of directors on January 19, immediately after the meeting of the stockholders. The City National Bank's directors were scheduled to meet on December 30. The Morgan County National's board will meet one night this week, it was announced.

The directors of the Central National were scheduled to meet on the second Tuesday in January.

None of the institutions forecasted today the action the directors will take on the matter of dividends. It was expected, however, that the normal dividends will be declared.

December Busy, "Too Busy"—Sox

December has been a busy month for the Albany firemen, "too busy," declares Chief Sox Sorber. Seven alarms already have been answered by the department during the month, as compared with five for the entire month of November. The December record is the largest of the year, September passing without an alarm.

FARMERS OPPOSE ANTI-STRIKE BILLS

GEORGE P. HAMPTON ADDRESSES
LETTER SETTING FORTH
VIEWS TO SOLONS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Declaring that farmers believe "that strikes may be necessary to protect labor," George P. Hampton of the Farmers' National Council today addressed a letter to leaders of both parties in Congress opposing the enactment of anti-strike legislation.

"Farmers, as a body, don't like strikes," he declared, "but farmers don't blind themselves to the self-evident fact that under our industrial organization strikes, even on railroads after due notice has been given and negotiations have been held, may be necessary to protect labor and enable labor to obtain its just rights. Farmers realize that if striking by labor is made a felony, the next step logically would be to have the curtailing of acreage, or the commodity marketing of farm staples, which is necessary to secure a fair price for farmers, made a felony as well. This would result in enforcing labor on the part of the farmers and render them helpless under the exploitation of monopolistic interests."

"Many of the soft drinks are often articles of food," said Hardwick. "A refreshing and invigorating soft drink is beneficial to our working people."

Chairman Fordney of the committee said he favored a sales tax but for the pyramiding of the tax.

Repeal of Tax on Soft Drinks Urged

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Repeal of the ten per cent tax on fruit juices, carbonated waters and soft drinks was urged before the House ways and means committee today by former Senator Thomas W. Hardwick and Ellis Johnson of Georgia, representatives of the association of bottlers of carbonated waters. Hardwick said the tax cannot be absorbed by manufacturers and must be passed along to the consumer. For this reason it has curtailed the industry and threatened to destroy it.

He contended the tax falls on the five-cent drinking population. Representative Gardner suggested that Hardwick's argument apply equally to tobacco.

ook part: Miss Ruth Banks, Mrs. William McNeill, Mrs. R. M. McGlathery and Seneca Burr. The service was opened by an organ prelude by Mrs. Seneca Burr and then followed the program as previously made public. The solos by Mrs. McNeill, Mrs. McGlathery, Mrs. Walter H. Todd, Mrs. Frank G. Cook and Miss Ruth Banks were given special praise, as were also the anthems sung by the quartets composed of Mesdames Gibson, Rohan, McGlathery, Cook, Todd and Misses Gibson, Sewell and Burleson. A short talk was made by Dr. Wilks, pastor of the church, in which he expressed heart-felt thanks for the splendid spirit of co-operation manifested by the singers. According to visitors at this service, the singing surpassed anything of its kind in the history of this church. The Sunday school of this church held Christmas services Sunday morning. The collection, amounting to over $40, went to orphans.

First Methodist

The excellent program rendered last evening at the White Christmas service of the Sunday school of the First Methodist church, Decatur, was well received by a large audience, who joined with the Sunday school in making a special free-will offering as a Christmas present to the Methodist Orphanage at Selma. The amount contributed was $90 in money and $75 worth of dry goods and other presents.

The ladies of the Sunday school also on yesterday handed to the treasurer of the Sunday school annex fund a check for $401.61, the amount recently made in serving lunches to the Shriners.

TENNESSEE—THE STATE AND THE RIVER

"It is an ill wind that blows nobody good." How often have we heard the ancient quotation without ever suggesting any relation between the adage and the Tennessee river, but there seems to be a relation after all.

Tennessee, the state, went Republican in the presidential election and the Democratic Tennessee Valley wept copiously over the late lamented solid South. Now we learn that Tennessee's unusual political flop will be one of the arguments to be used in convincing skeptical Eastern and Western Republican senators that there is some good left in Dixie and that the Wilson Dam should be completed.

Seriously, however, Tennessee's action in falling into the Harding column will not hurt, to say the least, the chances of obtaining an additional appropriation for development of the river. Col. Huston, wise as he is in the ways and means of politics, realizes that fact and he intends to make the most of it.

Of course Tennessee's action will not be the sole, not even the most important, argument he will advance to the senatorial appropriations committee. He will tell the senators of the natural advantages of the developed river, of the aid to navigation, of the cheap fertilizer the nitrate plant will insure, but after all is said and done the political right-about-face of Tennessee, the state, is going to help Tennessee, the river.

ABSOLVED

There would be more semblance of excuse in the recent release by Secretary Baker of the last conscientious objectors if the same order had included the release of all those soldiers who went AWOL for more than three days and thereby became technical deserters. Many men who played the game except for one irresponsible lapse are still in prison. Others who lacked manhood enough to take sides are free.

No one can deny to the conscientious objector a certain surly, cantankerous courage. He stuck up for what he believed to be a principle. On no account must he be confused with the slacker—the man who by one trick or another avoided declaring himself. But in the throes of a desperate national emergency no people is inclined to admire misapplied courage. The conscientious objector stood in the way of the nation's safety. He had the choice between self and sacrifice. He chose to be selfish when selfishness needed to be submerged for public necessity. And he had to suffer accordingly.

But was his suffering hard? "The major part of these men," declares Mr. Baker, "have been in confinement for more than two years." The severity of this penance can hardly be expected to impress those soldiers who have been in confinement (in hospital) for two years and more with tuberculosis contracted in the service. It will also, should another emergency arise, give aid and comfort to the prospective conscientious objector who sees how easily others got away with it.—American Legion Weekly.

PERSHING'S PAY—HIS FUTURE

General Pershing's salary is fixed by Congress at $13,500 a year, and in the act creating his office the President is authorized to fix his allowances in lieu of quarters, heat and light for travel, transportation and forage. These have been set at $7,500 a year, making General Pershing's total income from his service in the army $21,000.

Compared with the money rewards given by the Allies to their victorious military commanders this annual compensation is modest, and General Pershing will get it only as long as he stays on active service. Yet we believe it is a more substantial income than the nation has ever before conferred on a man for military service. It stands out conspicuously when it is recalled that none of the naval officers who fought for us has been promoted to rank corresponding with that given to General Pershing. In the distribution of rewards for services in the war army men got much the better of it as compared with Uncle Sam's sailors.

General Pershing's future is naturally interesting to all his fellow Americans. On June 6 it was announced that he had sent a letter to Secretary Baker in which he said that it seemed to him his duties as General were "not likely to be of a character that will require more than a portion" of his time, and that he felt that without detriment to the service he might retire when the army reorganization was complete and the free to engage in "something more active." This decision was contingent upon the continuation of the conditions then existing. General Pershing declaring that, "unless a situation should develop to justify his remaining he contemplated retiring within the next few months."

Since this determination was made public there has been no further announcement of General Pershing's plans. The reorganization of the army is well under way, though by no means completed. It has been suggested that General Pershing would make a tour of South America, lead the inauguration day parade in Washington on March 4, have a seat as Secretary of War in President Harding's cabinet. General Pershing has contributed nothing to the discussion. He has borne himself with the same engaging modesty which has been notable throughout his interesting career, and dispositions of his energy made by unauthorized persons have apparently been accepted by him for what they are: negligently and good.

natured exhibitions of real affection and respect for him.

Of course, General Pershing could get much more than $21,000 a year in private life, but if he carries out his intention of last June and quits the army it will not be for the sake of money alone. He is a man to whom idleness is distasteful. He does not want to rust out. He wants to work hard at something worth while.—New York Herald.

THE MORGAN COUNTY BOARD OF REVENUE JEALOUSLY SAFEGUARDS PEOPLE'S MONEY

In view of the fact that Jefferson County's financial affairs have been slovenly handled, and that the electorate has been careless in selecting its administrators of those funds, not only, but in its selection of representatives to the Legislature and to the Senate, this special telegraphic dispatch in Wednesday's News will be of more than passing interest:

Decatur, Ala., Dec. 15.—Special—Designation of the First National Bank of Hartsville as county depository for 1921 has been announced by the Board of Revenue. The First National bid 6.76 per cent for the account.

Representatives of the county banks attending the hearing of the board entered a friendly agreement that the winning bank should entertain the others with a luncheon, so A. E. Jackson, head of the First National, was host to all other bank representatives and members of the board at a luncheon.

Now that is something to warm the cockles of the heart. Six and seventy-six hundredths per cent interest on a county's bank balances is most generous. Probably the successful bidder will make precious little money out of handling those funds. Between 6.76 per cent and 8 per cent, the legal rate of interest in Alabama, there is a narrow margin of 1.24 per cent. But the sharp competition between the banks, and the friendly openness and good will after the selection was made, is notable. It shows that the Board of Revenue of Morgan County has the financial welfare of the people at heart. And one gathers that in Morgan County, unlike the situation in Jefferson County, the members of the Board of Revenue are free lances and eager to serve the people.

In Jefferson County it has been the practice of the Treasurer of the county to have a free hand in selecting his bank depository. It appears that has been the custom for years. The Board of Revenue has nothing to do with that vital matter. Naturally the Jefferson County funds make a pretty decent account, since THOSE FUNDS BRING NOT A PENNY OF INTEREST TO THE COUNTY.

An effort was made at the last session of the Legislature to obtain interest on the huge funds on deposit at the American Trust and Savings Bank, but the Senator from Jefferson County obstructed that move.

At the present time there is no power by which the people of Jefferson County can require interest on those deposits. But they can look forward to the next election. They can resolve now that no man shall be elected to the Legislature who does not pledge himself to get a bill passed stipulating that the funds of the county shall be deposited with the bank or banks making the highest interest bid.

There is no reason whatever why the treasury of Jefferson County should be bilked annually for thousands of dollars through the whim of a bank or an individual. This unbusiness-like procedure, a crying shame. It must, it will be, ended at the next session of the Legislature.—The Birmingham News.

CHRISTMAS AND THE CHILD

Christmas was made principally for children. Christmas without them is not the jolly affair it should be. Santa Claus, that mythical hero of American childhood, is ever young. His is one of the few kingdoms of earth which are destined to survive.

Christmas thoughts naturally turn to childhood. And in considering the latter, three are the rich and the poor, the high and the low, the carefully-guarded and the homeless, the well-fed and the under-nourished, the well-dressed and the under-dressed.

Wherefore, it is appropriate that there are several fine channels this year through which Gadsden people may give expression to the Christmas spirit, through which they may make happy the children, the poor, the homeless, the ill-fed and the under-dressed.

In Alabama there is a peculiar opportunity for service in support of the Alabama Children's Aid Society, a splendid and efficient organization which brings the homeless child and the childless home together. It is a most worthy cause.

Then, there is the call being sounded by Herbert Hoover for the relief of the millions of homeless and undernourished children of Europe. The actual facts as to the situation are eloquent, in themselves.

From China comes another call. Millions of Chinese, many of them children, are starving, and only the generosity of more prosperous and more fortunate sections of the world can save them from death. In this instance, it is not a case of bringing Christmas cheer, but a matter of life and death.

If you wish to enjoy Christmas to the full, bestow some of your gifts without thought of reciprocity. Make a subscription to any or all of the three causes enumerated above.—Gadsden Journal.

It is always more blessed to give than to receive; especially—advice.

If our mental machinery were more frequently lubricated with the oil of thought petty fusses would be very infrequent.

Things may quiet down a bit for Christmas, but if you don't like the noise of business you had better close your ears after January 1.

chants or farmers under present conditions. The merchants, like the farmers, are buying only enough stock with which to do business. This means a much less volume of business, very rigid economy on all hands, close collections and a very general return to a strictly cash basis by an increasing number of merchants.

"There has been very little liquidation so far, and the general attitude for the present is that of waiting for farm products to go higher or for manufactured products to go lower or for both to happen and thus bring about needed readjustment.

"One observer in the Southwest describes the situation by saying that the country is rich in every product, plenty of crops unsold, hogs, chickens, turkeys, cattle, good teams and farm equipment, but no money and banks loaned up. The answer, of course, is that the natural laws of supply and demand will ultimately work out the situation and no remedies or plans to bridge over the emergency can obscure this fact.

"There is a general belief that there will be a revival of building in the spring, because conditions will be more favorable, and the necessities of the situation are more pressing."

TIPPERARY SCENE OF FIERCE CONFLICT*SINN FEINERS AND TROOPS IN CLASH; MANY KILLED AS RESULT

(International News Service)
DUBLIN, Dec. 21.—Troop reinforcements were today rushed to the mountains of Tipperary, where 18 persons were killed and many were wounded in a pitched battle between soldiers and Sinn Feiners. A detachment of British troops were ambushed near Mullinahone. The fire of the attackers was returned and soon an engagement was raging with the combatants shooting from behind trees. According to latest accounts from the scene, the Sinn Feiners lost 10 killed, 40 prisoners and many wounded. The casualties of the crown forces were eight killed and a few wounded.

Big Contract Let For Power Lines

SHEFFIELD, Ala., Dec. 21.—The government has let the contract to Tucker and Laxton of Sherlock, N. C., for building the electric transmission lines between nitrate plants Nos. 1 and 2. The contract calls for a consideration of $19,000, and the work will start January 1 and be rushed to completion, requiring probably 60 days.

The city of Sheffield some time since granted the government the right to erect and build the lines through the city, one of the plants being located in West Sheffield. When the lines are established, both of the local plants will be connected with the 110,000 volt transmission lines from Gorgas, which is supplying the power being used here by the government enterprises at this time.

TURKEY HELPED BY GERMANS

Jute Bags, Designed to Block Suez Canal, Are Now Being Put to Peaceful Use.

It is always a pleasure to acknowledge a debt of gratitude to one's foes. The German occupation has left many a nightmare in this poor land; but some benefits as well. One of these has recently come to light. Hundreds of poor are peddling on the streets of Constantinople jute bags, with handles, which are very convenient for carrying home rice or onions or bread or patijan (eggplant) or any other purchase. For six or seven cents, one can have a good strong bag.

The story of these is interesting. During the early days of the war, when the campaign against Egypt was undertaken, the plan was conceived of driving the British back to the Suez canal, filling up the canal with the sands of the desert, and walking over into the w<sup>o</sup> promised Land, and thus "delivering" Egypt from the yoke of tyranny. To facilitate this project, the Germans sent into this country millions of jute bags, which were to be filled with sand and piled into the canal in a hurry when the conquering invader reached its banks.

When the American committee for relief in the near East sent out its shiploads of supplies for the starving of this country, and no warehouses could be had for love or money at Constantinople, the fine large German warehouses at Derindje, on the Gulf of Nicomedia, were requisitioned for this humanitarian purpose, and granted to the relief committee. In these were found about one million of these German bags. For a long time they were left alone; but recently some enterprising firm has got hold of them, cut each one in two so as to make it of convenient size, stitched up the ends, put handles on—and the population of Constantinople thanks the Germans for their unintentional gift! And the Suez canal is still open for traffic. From the Orient, Constantinople.

Modern Casabianca.

A fire guard in the Shenandoah national forest not so long ago found himself in a predicament similar to that of Casabianca, although his decision was not so silly. Discovering that there were three bears at the foot of the lookout tower in which he was stationed without arms of any kind, he telephoned for permission to leave at the first chance to get a gun. The district ranger replied that the forests were dry, that a fire might start anywhere at any time, and that he must stay where he was, hear no bears; and the guard stayed. After some time one who had "listened in" came to his rescue.—Teuth's Companion.

New Sign Posts.

One of the things most admired in France by the doughboy intrusted with the delivery of important messages, or truck loads of ammunition, was the sign posts telling him precisely how far he was from his destination. But they were antiquated in some instances, and so small that they could not be read at a distance. Just before the outbreak of the war France was planning to have them replaced by larger ones arranged on a more scientific basis. Then came the war. It now costs 135 francs to set up one sign post, and France needs 35,000 of them.

The French government, being unwilling to finance the scheme at the present high cost of iron, concrete and paint, Andre' Michelin, president of the Aero club of France, has undertaken to supply the republic with the necessary guides.

Meet Suggested on Disarmament

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—President Wilson is authorized and requested to invite the governments of all nations to send delegates to an international convention in the United States to consider ways and means of bringing about joint disarmament by a resolution introduced in the House today by Representative Brooks of Illinois.

DEFENSE ATTACKS

CHARACTER OF THE STATE WITNESSES

(International News Service)

MACON, Ga., Dec. 21.—The defense in the Shepard poison case today attacked the character of witnesses introduced by the state, who had previously testified regarding the alleged poison plot. H. S. Hays, the first witness, who said he is in the timber business and had lived in Abbeville for 30 years, swore that the character of Jim Turner, his wife, son and J. J. Peterson is bad. Hays stated he would not believe any of them on oath. On cross examination Hays swore Mrs. Turner's reputation is bad. On close cross examination Hays declared he got $400 from the Massie-Felton Lumber Company, by whom he is employed, since he came to Macon, and said he had never received any money from anybody in this case.

John J. Smith, who lives near Rockelle, a county commissioner of Wilcox county, testified the character of Jim Turner, wife and son, were bad and stated he would not believe them on oath. He said he had heard that Peterson had been in the penitentiary.

J. Q. Wilson, another Wilcox county commissioner, swore he would not believe the Turners on oath but that he did not know Peterson. He said he had heard John Turner sold liquor. Noah Smith, warden of Wilcox county convict camp, swore that the general characters of the Turners and Peterson were bad and he would not believe them under oath. He said he had heard that Jim Turner ran his wife and children off with a shotgun to keep another woman.

"Would you refuse to believe a man because he committed adultery?" asked Solicitor Garrett.

"Yes, I would," said Smith.

"Then there are mighty few men you would believe, are there not?"

"Well, I wouldn't say that, exactly," answered the witness.

Dr. W. L. Orr of Perry testified that Fred Shepard told him he had been eating a lot of pork and ice cream, which had given him dysentery.

"I gave him calomel and bismuth," said Dr. Orr. "On the Saturday before he died I gave him more medicine and also on Sunday and Monday I gave him more calomel. He had abdominal pains which are consistent with peritonitis. Monday night Dr. M. S. Brown was called into consultation. We found no indications of poisoning."

On cross examination Dr. Orr admitted Shepard's symptoms were consistent with poison, though they did not indicate poison.

The witness stated on Sunday he also visited a negro having the same symptoms and the negro died the next day.

Here the defense rested with the announcement they had several other witnesses who had not arrived.

The prosecution, in rebuttal, placed J. J. Barfield, a former postmaster at Abbeville, on the stand, who swore he knew Jim Turner and Peterson and would believe them on oath. He knew nothing of the characters of John Turner nor Mrs. Turner.

On cross examination, Barfield said he did not know of the ugly things against the Turners and Peterson, sworn to by the witnesses for the defense, but that he had "heard these things."

William Blassingame, the state's next witness, admitted he sold whiskey at Abbeville. He said he would believe the Turners on oath.

Mayor Monroe of Abbeville said Jim Turner's reputation was "medium," that he would not believe him on oath. The state's character witnesses were not holding up very well. The state closed its case and the defense also announced its case closed and Judge Mathews recessed until 2:30 this afternoon, when arguments will be heard.

Decision is expected late tonight.

Tariff Bill Will Be Up Wednesday

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—The House today voted 206 to 76 to take up tomorrow for passage the Fordney bill, providing emergency tariff duties on agricultural products, wool and woolen manufacturers, designed to afford relief to farming interests.

HAND PAINTED GOWNS IN "MY GOLDEN GIRL"

Victor Hedberg's greatest musical front and Casino Theater success, "My Golden Girl," will be the attraction at the Princess Theater on Thursday, December 23. If you will remember this is the same show that created such a sensation in New York with its wonderful Herbert melodies, the clever story, and the gorgeous Parisian hand-painted gowns, each one a creation in itself.

The attraction could be styled a fashion show de luxe, but when you stop to think of the delightful Herbert melodies, the clever story, excellent cast, great singing and dancing, magnificent production, beautiful girls, augmented orchestra, you will agree with the New York Globe, when they classify it as "a golden entertainment."

Constance Talmadge, Star Wednesday

Another delightful comedy for admirers of Constance Talmadge may be viewed this week at the Star Theater on Wednesday, when Lewis J. Selznick will present Constance Talmadge in her latest Select picture, "A Lady's Name."

A succession of amusing and exciting events showing the adventures of an enterprising and whimsical young woman who advertises for a husband is the theme of the story. She is Mabel Vere, a writer, whose reason for the advertisement is to secure material for a new novel. She is engaged to a somewhat priggish young man who naturally objects to her methods.

After breaking her engagement with her fiance, being blackmailed by a butler, and changing her role from writer to cook, she becomes engaged to Noel Corcoran, the third and last applicant to her ad.

LEGION ASKS FOR NO BONUS

Service Men Merely Seek Assistance From Government in Overcoming Financial Disadvantages.

One of the biggest legislative questions now occupying the attention of the American Legion has to do with the adjustment of compensation of the ex-service man, and all the members throughout the country have been asked to aid through their congressional representatives in securing the enactment of the legion's bill.

The bill which the legion is endorsing embraces land settlement, whereby former service men and women receive $1.50 for each day of service, to apply on the purchase of land and government projects, or loans for buying equipment; home aid, with $2 for each day of service to apply on the purchase of a home or farm; vocational training with $1.50 for each day of service to be paid as long as the recipients are obtaining education from the government; or, a cash compensation of $1.50 for each day of service, to be paid within a year after the approval of the bill.

Speaking in connection with what the national executive committee of the American Legion regards as a fair treatment for ex-service men as above outlined, Frankin D'Olier, national commander of the American Legion said:

"The overwhelming majority of ex-service men feel strongly that this government owes an obligation to all persons who were handicapped either bodily or financially because of military or naval service during the recent war."

The American Legion, representing over one million ex-service men and women spoke very plainly on this point at its national convention last November.

"Although this obligation to the disabled men, handicapped bodily, was universally acknowledged, it required a special meeting of the American Legion in Washington during December, over a year after the signing of the armistice, to secure satisfactory action by congress for the disabled man to the end that he would no longer be an object of private charity but could live on his increased compensation allowances.

"The average man has been out of the service one year, and outside of the sixty dollars which hardly bought him a civilian outfit, he has received no aid from his government in overcoming the handicap incidental to his service.

"The American Legion asks for no bonus—wants no bonus. That sounds too much like a gift or a present from the government. It merely asks the government to assist the ex-service man in increasing some of the financial considerations incidental to his military or naval service.

"It asks that each of the four features suggested shall only be as liberal as is consistent with the welfare of the whole country. The American Legion asks nothing in its selfish interest at the expense of the country, but at the same time does not feel that this obligation to ex-service men and women should be altogether passed by at this time and all economizing done at the expense of the ex-service men."

"If legislation is wisely framed covering land settlement, home aid and vocational training, every dollar invested by the government will bring ultimately great returns to the country by making the ex-service man a better citizen and greater producer and will increase the wealth of the nation.

"Having waited over a year, it is not unreasonable to now expect some action showing that the interests of the ex-service men have not been altogether forgotten.

"All that the American Legion asks is as liberal treatment as is consistent with the welfare of the whole country—legislation that is fair to the ex-service man and at the same time just as fair to the entire nation as well."

HENRY D. LINDSLEY,
Upon Whom the Minneapolis Convention of the American Legion Conferred the Title of Past National Commander.
